Chronicle Celebrates
Thirty-Second Year as Community Mouthpiece

Thirty-one years have passed since the first issue of the "Crossfield Chronicle". Many have come and gone, but the "Chronicle" still goes on.

As this is the first issue of the "Chronicle" in its thirty-second year, the managers have endeavoured to make this anniversary one which will long linger in the memory of the faithful supporters.

Correction.

In our last week's Chronicle, in the article on the new shareholders of the Crossfield Mutual Telephone Company, we stated that the number of Amery Bros. telephone was 1106. This should have been 1006.

Organization Meeting
Cochrane Constituency
Social Crediters

Drifted-in roads Thursday evening last caused the crowd at the organization meeting of the Crossfield Social Credit group to be very small. However, those present were strong supporters of the association, which helped to make the meeting most successful.

The chairman, G. Butler, gave the meeting over to W. R. King, M. L. A. who stated he had just returned from Edmonton, where he had been called on account of the oil situation in Turner Valley.

He explained how last spring the government had issued a conservation act, owing to the many pounds of oil being wasted. He also told the meeting that 60 million barrels of oil in the Valley went up in flames. This gas which is burned is worth 8 million dollars to the province.

Mr. King then explained the methods of the credit branches, credit vouchers, transfer vouchers and the proceeds the merchants would take in the way of receiving credit for the vouchers they take in from their customers.

(Here we would like to quote Mr. King's exact words, but space does not permit us to do so. We assure you, however, that the methods of the credit houses were well explained, giving the listeners light on all proceedings.) Mr. King said he is looking into the future.

The speaker went on to say that the province has more roads under the Social Credit government than it has ever had before; and, best of all, they are paid for. Many miles have been hard-surfaced, which has been paid on current revenues.

The Municipal taxes were mentioned by the speaker, and how that the people could pay them by repairing the highways, applying two dollars on their taxes and receiving a credit voucher of one dollar for every three dollars worth of work.

"Every Municipal district had the opportunity to consider this, and by now the municipal roads could be in good condition and the government would have paid one third of the cost," said Mr. King.

For the organization the M. L. A. said that he had been chosen as the organizer for his constituency, and that it would be necessary to organize for the Federal Election next summer.

"We are out for purchasing power", Mr. King said.

Time was then allowed for questions to be asked, which the speaker suitably answered.

Lunch was served by the Messrs. G. Butler and F. Becker during which a friendly discussion took place, and the friends dispersed.

Weather Favors Annual Old-Timers Round-Up

Since Friday last the sun has shone quite warm, enabling the Crossfield and district Old Timers to have a gala re-union Wednesday evening, when friends met friends, to the tune of a grand time; first a banquet and then a dance, which added another huge event to the annals of Crossfield history. (Read more about this event on the inside page, headed

Crossfield Mutual
Phone Co. Expands

The total number of telephones has increased to 120, which is a credit to Crossfield and district, as the Crossfield Mutual Telephone Company is considered one of the strongest companies in the province. It is gratifying to know that very few complaints are heard with the service given.

Memorial Fund.

The committee report that they have over $200.00 in the Bank and are grateful for the hearty response they have received from those whom they have called on so far. A small donation from everyone will soon enable us to reach our objective and proceed to make arrangements for the erection of a memorial of which the district may be proud.

Crossfield Y.P.S.

A meeting will be held at the home of Edna Ableman on Monday December 5th. All members will meet at the Post Office at 7:30 p.m. for transportation.

Fire Destroys
Swanby Farm Home

Mr. Mrs. A. Swanby, residing a half mile east of the Beaver Dam hall, Madden, were aroused at 2 a.m. Monday last, November 21st, when they found that their house was on fire. Neighbors were soon working hard to extinguish the fire, but to no avail. The home was completely destroyed, and all that was saved (according to reports) was the clothing that the unfortunate wore.

Murles Bros. soon moved their cook car and another building, with cooking utensils and cook stove on the farm, which will serve as a temporary home.

A subscription list was soon raised, and well responded to throughout the district, besides vegetables and clothing, which the friends presented.

This is a total loss to Mr. and Mrs. Swanby, as they did not have any insurance.

A Dwindling Asset

Disconcerting, to say the least, are the latest official figures of automobile tourist traffic across the international boundary between the United States and Canada.

With agriculture in the doldrums the people in this country have been watching with approval and a measure of comfort the growth of the American tourist traffic in Canada, regarding it as a lusty, young industry which gave promise of making up for some of the losses sustained by agriculture, if not immediately, at any rate in the near future.

The tide of tourist traffic from the United States has been flowing strongly across the international border in recent years and has been growing with remarkable acceleration until the trade has assumed the rank of the second largest industry of this country.

While, of course, the major portion of this comparatively new industry has to date been enjoyed by the provinces of Ontario and Quebec in the east and British Columbia in the west, due principally to their geographic proximity to American centres of dense popularity, still the prairie provinces have been reaping a modicum of benefit and enjoying some measure of the increase until now.

The Wrong Direction

Now, however, it would appear that the pendulum is showing a marked tendency to swing the other way, since official figures for the month of September not only show a reduction of American tourist automobiles coming into Canada but an increase in the number of Canadian tourist cars going into the United States for periods long enough to place them in the tourist category.

In other words, the September figures demonstrate that the number of American visitors to this country, and hence the amount of money they are spending here, is declining, while the number of Canadians who are spending their time and money in search of pleasure on the other side of the line is showing an upward trend.

The September figures show that in that month approximately 6,000 more Canadian cars were admitted into the United States "for touring purposes" than in the corresponding month of 1937, while a decrease of 23,158 in the number of American cars entering Canada for periods ranging from 48 hours to 60 days is recorded. The latter is a substantial figure when based on a total entry of 174,637 American cars for the month of September.

While over the Dominion as a whole American cars entering Canada outnumber Canadian cars leaving by one to one, entries across the boundary along the prairie provinces, the direction shows a balance on the wrong side, if the September figures are any criterion of the entire summer movement, and there is no reason to suppose they are not.

The figures show that during September a total of 6,476 Canadian tourist cars travelled south across the boundary while only 4,617 northbound tourist automobiles passed through prairie customs posts, roughly a ratio of three to two on the wrong side of the economic ledger.

This appears serious enough when the figures demonstrate that for every two Americans spending money in the prairie provinces for gas and oil, meals and accommodation three prairie Canadians are spending cash for similar services in the United States, but that is not the whole story, for further statistics show that Canadians are spending considerable sums for the purchase of commodities in the United States and bringing them back under the $100 duty exemption clause, spending a further loss to business on the Canadian side.

During the six months ending September 30, Canadian tourists returning to this country brought into Canada under the duty free clause merchandise valued at approximately $5,000,000 of which $4,533,950 was spent in the States. Nearly half that amount went in clothing and a round half million each was spent for household appliances and boots and shoes. Another $350,000 was exchanged for radios and nearly $135,000 for auto tires, tubes and accessories with a further $873,000 for miscellaneous commodities.

The Obvious Remedy

The cause for this situation is not far to seek, when a comparison is made between the condition of the highways in the prairie provinces during the past few years with those in the Western United States. It is not surprising to find that American tourists in increasing numbers decide to do their travelling on their own side of the boundary and that Canadians in the west in increasing numbers travel south to escape their own bad roads to the south, which are to be found in the western U.S.A. Add to this the incentive to save a little money by at least pay the cost of a two or three day pleasure trip on the savings made on one hundred dollars' worth of purchases, and surprise that Western Canadians are crossing the border in increasing numbers should disappear.

The obvious remedy, of course, is to rehabilitate the disintegrating highways in the prairie provinces and to build more, and perhaps some reduction in the tariff on some of the commodities which are purchasable at a saving on the other side of the line to bring prices into closer parity, would help to restore the flow of tourist traffic from the south and stem the southward tide of Canadian tourists.

Had some of the $120,000,000 which has been spent on relief been expended on roads, we would have been found for many who have been more or less idle for years and the taxpayers would have had at least a partially selfliquidating asset in return for some of the expenditure.

Firesmen Had Alibi

Volunteer firemen did respond Nov. 11 when the siren sounded at Hart, Mich., on J. D. Luttrell's house burned down. Town officials demanded an explanation. "We thought the siren sounded to mark Armistice Day," firemen shamefacedly replied.

Ten rabbits will eat as much grass and pasture as one sheep.

Other Worlds

Scientist Discusses Probability Of Life On Sister Planets

Life probably once flourished on Mars, but had an almost impossible now, according to Dr. Spencer Jones, astronomer royal.

He said in a speech at Leeds, Eng., Venus was the only other planet at all likely to support life and even then it could only be a primitive form.

Speaking of Mars, the astronomer royal declared "it probably flourished there millions of years ago but has been dried up by the atmosphere and has probably by now become almost impossible."

Atmosphere on Jupiter—a rocky planet about 22,000 miles in diameter—was so dense the pressure was equal to about 1,000,000 tons per square inch.

"We can't conceive that life can exist on such a surface at such a pressure," he said.

No oxygen had been detected on Venus but there was an enormous quantity of carbon dioxide around it. "Venus is a world," said Dr. Jones, "where life has probably not yet started or, if it has, exists only in very primitive form."

The book contains two chapters which are nearly alike, word for word. They are the 19th chapter of II. Kings and the 37th chapter of I. Kings.

Considered A Luxury

People In West Indies Eat Apples Out of Shape

The Canadian trade commissioner at Trinidad has been reporting on apple consumption in the West Indies. Apparently it is not very large. Total imports amounted to only $35,016 last year, two-thirds of them coming from Canada, but not from British Columbia, since they were imported in barrels.

The trade commissioner tells us that the West Indian people consume apples as a luxury and mostly at Christmas. The fruit is sold through "marchands" or negro street vendors, who put down a deposit on a barrel and pay a little more daily as they withdraw the fruit.

The description of the method of sale is a reminder that it was from his apple business—sold stodgy or soggy apples from his barrow—that the English costermonger got his name.—Vancouver Province.

PINEAPPLE DELIGHT

1/2 cup cream
1/2 cup pieces pineapple, cut small
12 marshmallows, cut small
12 cup nut meats, chopped
1/2 cup Ogden's Social Tea Biscuits, crumbled

Beat cream and fold in pineapple, marshmallows, nut meats and two-thirds of the crumbled biscuits. Put mixture in a mold and chill until set and sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Six portions.

JIFFY MAYONNAISE

1 egg
2 tablespoons Crown Brand Corn Syrup

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup Mazola
1/2 cup Benson's or Canada Corn

1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup boiling water

Method: Put the egg, Crown Brand Corn Syrup, salt, dry mustard and Mazola in a bowl but do not stir. Make a paste by mixing Corn Starch with cold water; add boiling water. Cover closely. This will turn a fan at 90°, start a sprayer and sound a fire alarm, control refrigeration and air conditioning. They will protect electrical machinery from overheating at any temperature up to red heat by "shivering" and shutting off the power.

Building Projects

Western Canada Showing Interest In Building Homes

Western Canada has shown considerable interest in building homes with the aid of the National Housing Act, according to J. Clark Reilly, secretary of the Canadian Construction Association, after a trip to the West coast.

"British Columbia is showing quite a bit of activity in housing," said Mr. Reilly in an interview. "The west coast province was slow to take advantage of the act, but now building is well under way with ready co-operation from the insurance companies who are making the loans necessary for construction."

Considerable use of the Housing Act was being made on the Prairies, he said. Edmonton would vote shortly, he understood, on a project for construction of a block of low-rent homes by the city. Civic housing projects also had been discussed in Winnipeg.

"Personally, I favor formation of private companies to erect and administer such housing projects," said Mr. Reilly.

Housing will form a main topic of discussion at the 21st annual convention of the Canadian Construction Association in Winnipeg next Jan. 11 and 12, Mr. Reilly said.

DRESSMAKER HAD TO QUIT SEWING

Hands Swollen With Rheumatism

Picture this poor dressmaker! Nine-tenths of her work consists of sewing — and she was not able to sew. Rheumatism in the hands was her trouble, and the tried and number of remedies—but nothing helped much—until she came to Kruschen.

"Three-and-a-half years ago," she writes, "I had a violent attack of rheumatic pains. My fingers and hands were swollen. The pain was terrible. I was really quite crippled and helpless."

"I tried many remedies without success. Then I started on Kruschen. But when I used it again, I could walk again. Then, I worked with it again. In three months I was quite well again. As I am a dressmaker, you can imagine what it means to me not to be able to work and to be free from pain!"—(Mrs.) E.S. Moore, a tailor, whose hands were swollen.

Kruschen brings relief because it helps to dissolve those troubling crystals and to expel them from the system.

New Magnetic Metal

Can Be Made To Shiver When Everything Else Is Hot

A new magnetic metal that can "shiver" and turn on the heat was developed at the Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, Ohio.

The shivering of the metal consists in losing its magnetism. It can be made to do this at any temperature from 150 below zero to 1,100 above.

This makes possible use of magnets of the new alloy for numerous automatic controls. Losing or regaining their magnetism, they operate electric switches.

They can be made to turn on the heat at 50, and shut it off when the temperature again rises. Unlike heat, they can be fixed to "shiver" when ever it is desired.

They will turn a fan at 90°, start a sprayer and sound a fire alarm, control refrigeration and air conditioning.

They will protect electrical machinery from overheating at any temperature up to red heat by "shivering" and shutting off the power.

Manitoba Farming Reduced

More than 1,000,000 acres of land in Manitoba since 1921, Prof. J. H. Ellis, of the University of Manitoba, estimates in a report on soil conditions in the province. Only 7,789,920 acres were under the plow in 1936, compared with 9,022,738 acres in 1921, he reports.

Muskrat Restoration

Conservation Project In The Interest Of The Indian Population

Investigations into the possibilities of improving the production of muskrat are now being carried out in selected areas of the Wood Buffalo Park, Northwest Territories, by the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa. Due to low water levels the muskrat has disappeared from many areas where formerly it was plentiful and the plan provides for the construction of dams and dirt fills to regulate water levels with the object of making these areas again suitable for muskrat ranching.

Following a reconnaissance survey of the delta country north of the Peace River, which is adjacent to the Upper Slave River, the Murdock Creek drainage basin, comprising approximately 40,000 acres, was selected as being suitable for much an experiment. The country adjacent to Murdock Creek is low, with many sloughs and marshes draining into the main stream and, therefore, only a comparatively small expenditure is required to establish water control. A dam is being built about a mile and a half from the mouth of Murdock Creek, which marks the initial step in the government's plan to develop the muskrat in this district. This conservation project has been launched in the interests of the Indian and half-breed population living in the region, many of whom hold traps to hunt and trap in the Wood Buffalo Park.

On Canada's principal fur resources, the muskrat provides an important means of livelihood to the natives, both as a source of revenue and food. The animal rapidly responds to protection and with the restoration of the muskrat population and the subsequent return of these primitive animals the economic welfare of the Indian and half-breed population should be materially improved.

Canadians joined with many Scots in taking stock of results of the Empire Exhibition which several weeks ago closed its doors after a successful final season. Oscar Turcotte, Canada's exhibition commissioner, declared all the Dominion exhibits had done very well indeed. In fact, in some instances did better in the first three months than they expected to do in the whole of the exhibition.

Mr. Franklin will "make a preliminary survey of the particular aspects of life" he wishes to study. Later he will get in touch with delegates to get an insight into labor conditions as well as leading members of the social and cultural life of the dominion. After his return to England he will be expected to submit a report.

A student from Australia also was selected at the meeting. Lord Baldwin presided.

Later he will get in touch with delegates to get an insight into labor conditions as well as leading members of the social and cultural life of the dominion. After his return to England he will be expected to submit a report.

A student from Australia also was selected at the meeting. Lord Baldwin presided.

Scripture.

From that time forth began Jesus to show unto his disciples, how that he must go unto Jerusalem, and suffer many things of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised again the third day.

Then Peter took him, and began to rebuke him, saying, Be it far from thee, Lord; this shall not be unto thee.

But he turned, and said unto Peter, Get thee behind me Satan; thou art an offence unto me; for thou sourest not the things that I say of God, but those that be of men.

Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily if he will.

For whosoever will save his life shall lose it and whosoever will let his life for my sake shall find it.

For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works.

Verily I say unto you, There be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they see the Son of man coming in his Kingdom.

—Matthew 16: 21-28

Thirty-Second Anniversary.

As space does not permit, we are unable to publish articles from the old files, but trust that the old timers of the district will remember what happened in the "good old days" and tell their families of the wonderful times and thrills they enjoyed so very much.

The "Chronicle" has seen many changes in the history of Crossfield both bountiful and poor, but still merits the support of the community at large.

The paper was first issued in 1907 under W. J. Newhort, and it has seen many people come and go, the district grew steadily, and many changes in public life. Throughout, it has been the "Chronicle's" management's policy to serve the district to the best of its ability.

Rev. R. E. Eller took over the editorial reins in 1909, selling out to R. Whitfield in 1912. In 1928 another change took place, when Stan Fawdry bought out the paper, and later in 1929, relinquished his interests to W. H. Miller.

Under Bill Miller's guidance, the paper grew to a very high standard, and both the paper and the owner were strong boosters for the district. In the winter of 1936 the plant was purchased by G. Y. McLean, who during his sojourn here added another page, and a number of subscribers to the mailing list, thus making the paper more prominent. Then beginning 1938, the paper again changed hands.

After all these years, the paper still continues, and as modern machinery and paved highways tend to speed up time, the "Chronicle" is published, keeping in line with other papers of the province.

Time goes on and on and on, young people become old, old-timers pass on to the beyond, and as those in the district continue to take interest in the affairs of "our town," the community spirit remains. The mouthpiece of the community brings to those still here the memory of those who have passed on, and to those who have taken up residence in another

Informed Opinion.

The Donkey's Consolation.

By Blaine Belshaw

(Obligations to G. K. Chesterton)

When all the world was in poverty, and the moon was red in an eclipse, and all creation was in a stormy mood—then the donkey was born. This strange, eccentric burlesque of nature with its wobbling ears, its monstrous countenance, its creaking cry, and crooked will; has been starved, derided, and mistreated by man as a walking parody of the devil.

This outlawed creature, with its slow-walking and unadventurous mind, its back sore with heavy burdens and cruel beating, and with ears deaf to the curses of its master, plods on slowly through life with its humble tasks, while it cherishes a secret consolation, which only it and its kind can share.

What fools men be! The donkey too had its glorious day—a grand and glorious and dramatic hour!

All Jerusalem was astir with excitement. The narrow streets were being strewn with palm leaves amid the jubilant songs of little children and the tears of joy of old age. Jerusalem was to be host to the Saviour of the World who came riding on a donkey.

Around Field and Barn.

By E.M.C.

This being an anniversary number, we are naturally looking backward. Do you remember hearing the wagons rambling over the frozen roads in the early morning, going to the coal mine or to help a neighbour thresh? Now a truck brings the coal to your door and it is the roar of the mail plane we hear in the early morning.

Anniversary—Remember? Threshing—the big steamer; firemen out at 4 a.m. to get steam up, the five o'clock whistle, the grain haulers, the tank steamer, the straw wagon, October blizzard, mud holes. Hauling grain to town, six-horse outfit, walk awhile, ride awhile, frozen lunch, the full flyover barn, dark home.

Cushman engines on the binders, the first tractors, the first closed car, the crystal set.

Haying, the man who could stack to two sweeps Prairie wool, winter feed camps, cattle trains, three-year-old steers, lard hogs. Rubber-tired buggy, the fast-driving team, the buggy whip. Who has a new buggy whip?

Anniversary every day—Remember? The Box Social, Sunday visiting, the 6 a.m. excursion train to Banff, the first telephone, new fences, old trails broken up, tired horses, fire guards. The good old days; who wishes them back—and yet!!!

Those were the days of Bullock, and other things, time auction sales, and horse racing, when gentlemen who rode in for dinner left the table before lighting up and could eat at the hotel or cafe without being smoke-dried from my lady's tailor made cigarette. There was no drought area, no relief need, no Hitler, no highway death toll, no swing, no yodelling, no unemployed, no old debts. But today we have many things we would not wish to be.

the distant fields we have left look greener than when we were driving over them, yesterday has gone, tomorrow is coming, anniversaries come and go—Tune in for the news.

On behalf of the "Chronicle" management of bygone years, we extend many, many thanks to these who have taken interest in the community newspaper, and, as time goes on, with a continuation of your "much-valued" support, the "Chronicle" will continue to uphold that which has been fought for in past years.

Again, we say, "Thank you" and may the years to come bring much joy and happiness to the community as a whole.

Wedding.

BIRD—FRY

A very pretty wedding of interest to all the community from Bettie on the south to Garfield on the North. A native son and daughter of that community being united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony by the Rev. A. D. Currie, Rector of the Church of the Ascension, Crossfield, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fry.

The bridegroom was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Bird of Garfield and was born at Rugby. The bride was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fry.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, while Mrs. Colwell played the wedding march. The bride was supported by her cousin, Marjorie Shand, and the bridegroom by his brother, Lionel Bird.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with veil and a piece of orange blossom, belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Fry, of Victoria, B.C., and used on the occasion of her own wedding 67 years ago. During the signing of the register Mrs. Colwell played "I love you very much."

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Colwell, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph, Shand, Aunt of the bride, and Miss Bushell.

The newly-weds will reside, for the present, on the Colwell farm near Garfield—Contributed.

The World of Wheat

By H. G. L. Strange

The Trade Treaties just signed by Great Britain, the United States and Canada constitute a new policy of great importance to Canadian farmers.

The goods farmers buy will be slightly lowered in price. Cattlemen will have the opportunity of exporting annually about three million dollars' worth more of stock, and there will be a slight increase in export, too, of certain agricultural products other than wheat.

The six cent preference—that beneficial protection enjoyed by Canadian wheat—has been eliminated, but our farmers have cheerfully given this up, for now wheat growers can approach the Government, figuratively with clean economic hands, and say "You have made a splendid start in lowering tariffs; carry on with the good work. Lower the tariffs now against the goods of European countries so that foreign people can sell more of their goods and commodities to Canada, and so be enabled to purchase more of our wheat."

I am forced myself to the conclusion that lower tariffs from only practical means by which Prairie farmers can sell their quantity of wheat which they must, I believe produce each year in order to maintain their very economic existence.

Lower tariffs, too, would certainly promote the cause of world peace, and so would decrease the necessity for costly re-arming for war.

Madden Shouts.

By HAYSKED

Mr. Geo. Skinner put his threshing machine to bed for the season under the first snow storm of the season, after having pegged up a few records. As outfit go nowadays, he only had a small outfit, an old machine, six teams, two field pitchers, engineer and separator man. In spite of an occasional breakdown, and constant wait for teams on long hauls, in 22 days. They threshed 20,305 bushels wheat 12,234 bushels oats, 4337 bushels barley, a total of 36,900 bushels; a record for this machine. Yields on every farm equalled or bettered all former records, with wheat yielding on stubble 35 to 45 bushels, on summerfallow and breaking 42 to 51 bushels barley yielding 61 and 70 bushels and oats yielding 75 to 101 bushels. Most of the records were made on Mr. Skinner's own farm, with the biggest crop he ever had, the best yields he ever had, and the best yields on the run. His oats yielded 101 bushels to acre and his wheat yielded 51 bushels on breaking.

Among the lesser records were one bolster broken, 2 tugs broken, 2 that wagon tires 1 car wheel broken, 2 car springs broken, 4 broken fork handles, 4 broken tongues, 4 broken reaches' and 8 upsets. One team even made a record by being the only ones not to miss its turn at the machine through a break.

The crew had a party to celebrate the end of it's record breaking run, with lots of beer and singing. A feather medal was voted Vern Williams for most time lost in accidents and the aim was awarded the Keene brothers for the most spectacular upset. They tried to ride the high side of a bucking wagon, and the wagon won. Cliff's feet were the last thing seen by the rest of the crew. Quoting Happy "I'm Keene brothers we're over in a big way." It was generally reported that these men be some Oriental in Mr. Skinner, for he used a block of wood for a pillow.

We understand that many of our neighbours had even better crops than these and we heartily congratulate them.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Abra, at the Calgary General Hospital, on Monday, November 28th, a daughter.
